Appendix 2: Rohe Pōtae WAI 898 Claims

Amended lists of claims to be consolidated or aggregated and list of unregistered claims.

Set out below are amended lists of claims to be consolidated or aggregated into the inquiry. The lists have been revised by Tribunal staff following recent submissions and amended statements of claim received since my earlier consolidation and aggregation memorandum-directions (Wai 898 # 2.5.28, #2.5.29, #2.5.31, #2.5.35).

These amended lists remain provisional. They are subject to future judicial directions, to the further amendment(s) of existing claims, to new claims being registered, and to a final decision regarding jurisdiction to be made after a full panel has been appointed.

Accordingly, the following claims are expected to be consolidated under the independent reference, Wai 898, which shall be the combined record of inquiry for Te Rohe Pōtae claims:

Appendix 3: Letter from a Claimant Outlining Issues in the Rohe Pōtae Claim – Ngāti Wharekokowai, Rereahu and Urban Māori

This letter raises many of the issues that will require addressing in the final Ngāti Maniapoto oral and traditional history report. We include this letter here by way of an example of some of the claimant issues and complexities that require further research in the Rohe Pōtae (Wai 898) Inquiry. We have deliberately left the claimant's details anonymous.

November 2010

Re: Waitangi Tribunal Investigation - Rohe Pōtae - Ngāti Wharekokowai

Thank you for being able to include the following concepts into your research for consideration for your final report in the Rohe Pōtae claim.

Introduction

1. I am trying to establish the previous existence of an old people called Ngāti Wharekokowai.
2. So far, what I have found is that Ngāti Wharekokowai is probably an old people (pre-Tainui) who resided in the lands we now know as the Rohe Pōtae, particularly in the area around Otorohanga and again at Mokau. I think I have found enough evidence to establish this finding.
3. As outlined below details for this are complex and my understanding is not yet complete. Anything you find will be most appreciated.
4. The weight of your research report will also be very significant.
5. I will send more information as I come across it.
6. I guess at this stage we mostly need an acknowledgement that there did exist a pre Tainui people called Ngāti Wharekokowai.

A. Connection to other pre Tainui people through the oral evidence.

1. I heard your korero at the Otorohanga oral hearing early in March. In particular you spoke of a very important wahine connected to the claim you were giving evidence for. From memory you spoke of this wahine as descending from a pre-Tainui people living at Ngaroto. Ko Rangimakiri tona ingoa. (Please correct me if I have misunderstood your evidence).
2. My whakapapa which I gave at the same hearing has Wharekokowai married to a Rangimakiri. (Hopefully I remembered to mention her in my evidence.)
3. I am hoping that this will help support the argument that establishes the existence of Ngāti Wharekokowai as a pre-Tainui people.

B. Ngāti Wharekokowai recognised as pre Tainui people (from the waka Taiaroa) from historic record.

1. There is a news paper article from the Otago Witness from 1890 which recognises Ngāti Wharekokowai as a pre Tainui people living at Mokau.
2. The article mentions the name of their waka as Taiaroa. This may also help with your claim for the Ngaroto people. Do you know the name of the waka for them?
3. It also speaks to the connection between Ngāti Kahungunu and Ngāi Tahu.
4. I have heard that this could have been some of the evidence that was to support Ngāi Tahu's claim in the Rohe Pōtae and Taranaki WT hearings. But they withdrew their claim.
5. Ngāi Tahu therefore could have more information in support of Ngāti Wharekokowai.
6. This article is online, see below.
7. <http://paperspast.natlib.govt.nz/cgi-bin/paperspast?a=d&d=OW18900807.2.152&l=mi&e=-----10--1----0-all>

C. Oral evidence yet to be given of Ngāti Wharekokowai living at Otorohanga.

1. Buddy Te Whare before his passing spoke of a people called Ngāti Wharekokowai.

2. He said that Wharekokowai lived with his people at a place on the Waipa River just down from Te Kotahitanga Marae.
3. He said that the place is called Whakaarorangi.
4. This oral evidence will be given by Destry Murphy (next hearing maybe) who was told this directly by Buddy Te Whare.
5. I am in the process of trying to find my old mate Chris Te Whare (Buddy's eldest son) to see if any of Buddy's old books or notes includes this reference.

D. Ngati Wharekokowai at Tahaia. (Near Otorohanga.)

1. There were claimants in the original Rohe Pōtae block claims (Pukeroa-Hangatiki in particular) who laid their claim to land under the mana of Wharekokowai, not under their connections to Maniapoto or any other ancestor.
2. This I think recognised the importance of Wharekokowai as the most prominent figure relating to these portions of land.
3. The Tahaia block and other areas in the Pukeroa-Hangatiki block were claimed under the mana of Ngati Wharekokowai.
4. Judgement for Pukeroa-Hangatiki including the Tahaia Block at 8 Otorohanga MB 225-244. (Specifically for Tahaia at folio 242.)
5. Evidence for the Wharekokowai counter claim number III ending at 7 Otorohanga MB 191.
6. Evidence for the Wharekokowai counter claim number IV ending at 7 Otorohanga MB 196.
7. Not all Wharekokowai claimants were 100% successful for this claim.
8. Judgement of the Court relied heavily on considering the boundary lines and marks. The judgement weighted heavily on inconsistent boundary and mark descriptions, ignoring the fluid character of rohe, and the significance of ancestral occupation. (folio 234 & 239 in particular)
9. Judgement was made in favour of three Wharekokowai factions. Te Herewini Te Ungapeehi's claim; Riria Ngaonewhero's claim; and Te Putu Taiki's claim (folio 242)

10. The claim of one Wharekokowai faction (Te Putu Taiki's) was struck out. However this claim was partially acknowledged in a favourable light with the portion above at 9 and also possibly acknowledged in the Orahiri No 1 subdivision discussed below. (I think this was recognised in the award of the Orahiri blocks below at E.)
11. Examples of dividing the people to reduce ownership numbers and other reasons with adversarial process are evident throughout.
12. Whakapapa showing Wharekokowai given and attached to the minutes at 7 Otorohanga MB 191. (the MB references at the MLC is erroneous- use 7 OTI 191 not 7 OT 191 if using the imaged record) This shows the two ancestors named Wharekokowai. Wharekokowai I and his grandson Wharekokowai II.
13. This whakapapa shows my claim's connection to Wharekokowai II through a line other than what I gave at the oral hearing at Otorohanga. (refer Hinerua II and Pohiri)
14. More whakapapa showing Wharekokowai is given in the Otorohanga MB series under the same Judge's handwriting which I do have a photocopy of, but I've lost the MB reference for it. (I'll send it as soon as I find it again)
15. This shows the whakapapa connections of Maniapoto; Kinohaku; and Wharekokowai. (refer: Te Rangikahauru I; Koromiko; Hinekahu; Te Waitere-Te Rangikahauru II; Waikawhia; Tungaoko & Tiki and many other connections)
16. Also entered by the Judge is the name of a person Taiaroa mentioned as deriving from Wharekokowai II. This may help affirm the argument that Wharekokowai is connected to a waka named Taiaroa.

E. Ngāti Wharekokowai at Te Arawhakaarangi. (Whakaarangi) (Also near Otorohanga.)

1. A claim for the Orahiri No1 Subdivision was also made by Te Putu Taiki.
2. This resulted in the partitions for Orahiri 8 and Orahiri 6.
3. Evidence at 7 Otorohanga MB 40-45 & 46. (Witnesses: Te Putu Taiki and Riria Ngaonewhero).

4. The claim is made under the mana of Ngāti Puha for Riria Ngaonewhero (folio 40, 42 & 45).
5. Te Putu however does not say he is claiming under Ngāti Puha. He distinguishes himself (folio 40) as Ngāti Rangi this is the same name he uses to claim under Ngāti Wharekokowai in the Pukeroa-Hangatiki claim.(folio 191)
6. Other sentences throughout the proceeding could erroneously be interpreted to include Te Putu as Ngāti Puha however he never states that he is in fact Ngāti Puha.
7. In Te Putu’s cross examination some confusion is made from the transcription of the Judge at folio 42: “Our claims to Te Arawhakaaranga is at Wharekokowai – an eel weir. This block was awarded by the Court to N[gati] Puha.”
8. Firstly the claim is to ‘Te Arawhakaarorangi’. (compare folio 45)
9. This highlights the Judges (or translators) audio perception of Te Reo Maori as less than desirable, evident in the various ways he has spelt the name. (folio 42, 44, 45)
10. Secondly, this is the first time the name Wharekokowai has been introduced to the Court enhancing the chances of misunderstanding,
11. Thirdly to refer to a claim to ‘Te Arawhakaarorangi’ awarded to Ngāti Puha in a comparison to ‘a location of an eel weir’ in this context doesn’t make sense.
12. In light of Buddy Te Whare’s oral record and in conjunction with Te Putu’s claim at D. above. I would suggest that the statement should read “Our claims to Te Arawhakaarorangi [by the eel weir is under Wharekokowai.] This block was awarded by the Court to N[gati] Puha.”
13. This is how Te Putu Taiki acknowledges the two supporting claims of Ngāti Puha for Riria Ngaonewhero and Ngāti Wharekokowai for his party.
14. This appears to be somehow related to the Pukeroa-Hangatiki claim mentioned above because despite finding a favourable judgment at Pukeroa-Hangatiki, Te Putu Taiki’s party was only awarded Orahiri 6 and 8 blocks.
15. In support of this is that Pukeroa-Hangatiki was heard and settled after the beginning of the Orahiri No1 Subdivision but before its judgement. There could well be a doubling up of evidence (or intermingling) from different cases to award the same land blocks for. (I haven't had a chance to compare the two cases yet and confirm this yet.)

16. Nonetheless Orahiri 6 and 8 blocks are located on the Waipa just down from where Te Kotahitanga marae now stands.
17. I have not had time yet to look at the original Orahiri investigation to confirm evidence given in this subdivision. This could include all of the Rohe Pōtae evidence from 1888 onwards. (ie 1 Otorohanga MB 1.)
18. Orders for Orahiri 6 and 8 blocks were made at 7 Otorohanga MB 310.

Appendix 4: Te Heuheu's Claim to Get his Children into the Rohe Pōtae Block: A Case Note.

Paora Meredith 2008

Introduction

The following case is a claim by Te Heuheu to have his children's name readmitted on the Ngāti Raukawa list of owners for the Rohe Pōtae Block. Maniapoto, Matakore and Raukawa opposition faced Te Heuheu.

The case was recorded in Otorohanga Minute Book No. 3 of the Native Land Court.<sup>156</sup> However, an attested and more legible copy of the main hearing (excluding some whakapapa) by the Clerk of the Court appears in the 'Grace Family Papers' in the Alexander Turnbull Library.<sup>157</sup>

It is important to situate Native Land Court minutes of this period in their historical context. The cases primarily centred on the contestation for title to land where claimants at times misrepresenting 'facts' in order to substantiate their claims.<sup>158</sup>

The politics of making lists of owners was very complex. It is generally difficult to examine in detail this area of the Native Land Court as lists were drawn up during adjournments of the Court, without minutes. Nevertheless, the nature of this case provides us with some insight into the making of lists, the dynamics of tribal politics and personalities, as well as examples of Māori customary law pertaining to land tenure.

Setting the Scene: 'Rohe Pōtae Owners' and Tuwharetoa

This case must be viewed against the background of the attempt by King Country leaders to have a controlled opening of their lands and the decision by Te Heuheu to treat independently Tuwharetoa lands, cutting out the Taupo portion of the Rohe Pōtae (Aotea Block).<sup>159</sup> This left a great deal of animosity between King Country Leaders and

In 1865, the Native Land Court had passed the first operative Native Land Act, which inaugurated the system of investigation of customary title, and the issuing to successful claimants of Crown grants that extinguished customary title. Following the Native Land Court hearing for the Rohe Pōtae<sup>161</sup>, claimants handed in lists of names. Tureiti Te Heuheu handed in a Tuwharetoa list, which was strongly objected to in court by Maniapoto. Rewi would only agree to their names included on the Raukawa and Maniapoto lists. Tureiti withdrew his claim satisfied that he could fall back on the Raukawa list. It is unclear why in fact Tuwharetoa's name had been included in the judgement. Tuwharetoa were one of the five tribes to the original Rohe Pōtae but with the Taupo portion 'cut out' even Tureiti was unsure as to Tuwharetoa's claim.<sup>162</sup> His father Te Heuheu Tukino had stated during the Taupouiatia hearings that he had a claim in the Aotea Block but it appears that he was referring to his Raukawa connections as he admitted during the course of the hearing that Tuwharetoa had no claim on the Rohe Pōtae block.<sup>163</sup>

When the lists for the Raukawa hapū were being compiled by persons including Tureiti, Rewi Maniapoto requested that Tureiti leave out the name of his father Te Heuheu. Rewi was concerned that the animosity of Maniapoto towards Te Heuheu over the Taupouitua block should not be witnessed by the Native Land Court.<sup>164</sup> Tureiti consented and wrote instead the names of Te Heuheu's children, leaving out his father's name. Some Raukawa objected while others supported their inclusion. Te Heuheu's children were included.<sup>165</sup> However, the Rohe Pōtae lists were left open for amendment at the request of the claimants.<sup>166</sup> Sometime in the interim Maniapoto and Raukawa leaders had the names of Te Heuheu's children struck off the list. Having learnt this, Te Heuheu began proceedings to have his children's names reinstated.

The Parties

The case came before Judge Mair who had heard the Rohe Pōtae case. A Pakeha lawyer, Mr W. Hay, initially presented Te Heuheu's claim.<sup>167</sup> However, he was met with strong opposition by Maniapoto who were ardently opposed to the participation of Pakeha lawyers in the Court because of past dealings.<sup>168</sup>

After several adjournments the case was heard on 1st May 1888. Te Heuheu's case was conducted by Mita Taupopoki, of Te Arawa. In support of Te Heuheu's claim, Mita Taupopoki called four witnesses, namely, Te Heuheu Tukino himself, his son Tureiti, Rewi Manga Maniapoto and William Henry Grace. The onus was put on Te Heuheu's side to demonstrate that his children had a right to be included on the Rohe Pōtae list.

To refute these claims, the other side consisted of Maniapoto, Matakore, and Raukawa interests, who referred to themselves, and were referred to by the Court, as the 'Rohe Pōtae owners'. Their claim to the district was not in question. They called two witnesses, namely Te Paehua Matekau and Hauauru Poutama. Both were leading figures in Maniapoto and Raukawa. Mita Karaka, of Ngāti Pare, Waikato, conducted their case.

Te Heuheu claimed admission for his children by ancestry, occupation, dead buried on the land and mana.

Take Tupuna

Despite providing genealogical lines that included those of Maniapoto and Matakore, Te Heuheu maintained that his claim was through his Raukawa ancestors Takihiku, Whakaterere and Waihurihia. Te Heuheu claimed his ancestry through his Grandmother, Rangiaho and her parents Kihi and Moeroro. Tureiti also claimed his Raukawa connection through his mother, Te Mare o Whaitiri. He also demonstrated his close genealogical links with Rewi Maniapoto to illustrate his Ngāti Paretekawa connections and to show the inconsistencies of inclusion on lists along ancestral lineage. He cited for example Ngamotu and her mother, Te Rohu, Rewi's wife, as those who remained on the list despite similar lineage. (See genealogy on proceeding pages)

From the objector's perspective, however, Te Heuheu's ancestry was not an issue. The argument was that the descendents of Te Heuheu's ancestors had left the area and married outside the tribe thereby not "keeping the fires burning".

Ahi Ka Roa

Take tupuna was a principal source of rights to land. However, this right was not enough alone. As Hauauru stated, "I am closely connected with Ngāti Haua through ancestry but I do not claim their land.”<sup>169</sup> An important related concept was ahi ka or the principle of keeping the fires burning on the land as a symbol of long-standing occupation. According to the Waitangi Tribunal in the Pouakani Report 1993 Ahi ka “did not necessarily mean continuous settlement, but it did mean continued use, such as seasonal visits for fishing or birding in which temporary encampments might be made. If occupation rights were not maintained, the fires grew cold and after three or more generations the fires may be regarded as being extinguished, ahi mataotao.”<sup>170</sup>

Te Heuheu and his son sought to show that they had in fact maintained residence within the Rohe Pōtae, by referring to births, abodes, cultivation and dead buried on the land. The ‘Rohe Pōtae owners’ rebutted much of their claims insisting instead that Te Heuheu’s time in the Rohe Pōtae was rather as visiting relatives.

Te Heuheu claimed that his father, Mananui, was born at Pamotumotu, a place within Rohe Pōtae Block near Wharepuhunga<sup>171</sup> and lived on various portions of the block naming several fixed places of abode.<sup>172</sup> Te Heuheu also asserted several instances of residence in the area at varying times and that he maintained a relationship when not in residence.<sup>173</sup> Te Paehua claimed that Mananui was in fact born in the Taupo district and argued that: “The settlements said by Te Heuheu to be where he and his father lived, belonged to Ngāti Whakaterere, Ngāti Karewa, and Ngāti Matakore. I dispute his statement that he cultivated food at any of those settlements – he did not live permanently there.”<sup>174</sup> Hauauru claimed that Te Heuheu came over from Taupo at one point only because he was “misbehaving” with the mother of Tureiti and Tuwharetoa turned him away and maintained that he never lived permanently on the land.<sup>175</sup>

Tureiti claimed that he lived permanently on this land between 1879 and 1882 at Paewhenua where he cultivated food, and then returned occasionally up until recent times.<sup>176</sup> Both Hauauru and Te Paehua disputed Te Heuheu's statement that he cultivated food at any of settlements or that he also lived permanently on the block.<sup>177</sup>

Another claim for permanent occupation was to show that one had dead buried on the land. Te Heuheu mentioned dead people buried on the block: "Ngangira was buried in the tapu that was burnt, also Te Tomo and others."<sup>178</sup> Te Paehua agreed that Ngangira and Te Tomo were buried on the land but argued "their occupation was not permanent on this land".<sup>179</sup> Others, he argued, who were buried on the land, belonged to him.<sup>180</sup> Hauauru implied with that burial on the land did not necessarily afford rights. He recounted the death of a Tuhourangi women who was buried on the land. She was subsequently exhumed by her relatives and returned to her own land.<sup>181</sup>

Te Heuheu also noted the various areas in the Rohe Pōtae where he was tattooed.<sup>182</sup> Te Paehua rejected any implication that because Te Heuheu was tattooed in the area that this would give him title to the land, noting that, as he had, it was customary sometimes for a chief to go out of his own district to be tattooed.<sup>183</sup> It may be that Te Paehua misconstrued Te Heuheu's argument which appeared more concerned with supporting his claim for residency rather than a 'take ta moko'.

Rewi Maniapoto who had been called by the Te Heuheu side appeared not to help their case. He stated to the Court, "I do not know from what source Te Heuheu's claim to this land comes."<sup>184</sup> He asserted that Te Heuheu's occasions in the area did not constitute a right through ahi ka. He claimed that "according to Māori custom that residence would not entitle him to the land, and they only resided there as relatives."<sup>185</sup> Rewi substantiated his argument by declaring that the descendents of Te Heuheu's ancestors had no claim because their children married out of the tribe and did not return to the land.

Te Paehua, also maintained this line noting for example Te Heuheu's ancestor Kihi who "married Moeroro at Taupo and remained away. All the children ... were born at Taupo"<sup>186</sup> Hauauru remarked on Te Heuheu's Parekawa lineage, the "mana and toa line of his Tuwharetoa line" (refer genealogies 2 and 8) whose ancestors had married women

Mana Tangata, Mana Whenua

Te Heuheu's mana within Tuwharetoa was not in question.<sup>188</sup> The Rohe Pōtae owners themselves referred to it citing the tribal saying (They may also have been pointing Te Heuheu in the right direction):<sup>189</sup>

Taupo te Moana	Taupo is the Sea
Tongariro te Maunga	Tongariro is the Mountain
Tuwharetoa te Iwi	Tuwharetoa are the People
Te Heuheu te Tangata	Te Heuheu is the Man

It became common practice for persons of rank to claim title to land by virtue of their status. This was questioned by some who argued the distinction between mana tangata (influence over the people) and mana whenua (tenure of land). They maintained that a chief who had influence over the people did not necessarily have an extraordinary title to land other than that as an ordinary member of the hapū.<sup>190</sup>

Te Heuheu's side pursued the 'mana' argument by citing several instances, which he implied, could only be achieved by someone with rank and influence in the area. He related that he burnt the garments on a rahui belonging to Maniapoto and noted that the prominent Maniapoto chief Taonui, "had declared I was right as I owned that land and said I was the bridge of his nose".<sup>191</sup> Te Heuheu also noted that Sir George Grey had consulted him on a proposal to construct a road from Orakau to Taupo.<sup>192</sup>

Te Heuheu, to demonstrate his father's influence within the area recited that a kotuku feather had been stuck in the ground to both symbolise the birth of his child and have the effect of ending fighting between Maniapoto and Waikato against Whakatere.<sup>193</sup> Te Heuheu asserted that the eels within the area were declared tapu in consequence of his birth. Te Heuheu also maintained that in the various dislocations of hapū from the area, his father, despite non-residency at the time, retained the mana over the land because "all the people were in dread of his mana and bravery".<sup>194</sup> Hauauru on the other hand argued that the land was left in possession of Maniapoto, Matakore and Whakatere.<sup>195</sup>

Te Heuheu alleged a boundary between Whakatere and Matakore.<sup>196</sup> As Te Heuheu's was not claiming through Matakore, the attempt was made to delineate the groups to establish independent spheres of authority and interests. Hauauru rejected the notion of a subdivision of Raukawa and Maniapoto lands, arguing that they resided together and appealed to Turongo as the eponymous ancestor.<sup>197</sup> Te Paehua, also maintained that "Ngāti Whakatere, Ngāti Matakore and Ngāti Karewa all lived together, they have no boundaries..."<sup>198</sup> Te Paehua's discussion about the group relationships illustrates a more complex dynamic than any clear cut notion of tribe and sub-tribe or a discernible understanding of who is the 'mana whenua': "I stated yesterday that Ngāti Whakatere, Ngāti Takihiku and Ngāti Rereahu belonged to Raukawa. Ngāti Matakore belongs to both Ngāti Maniapoto and Ngāti Whakatere. Matakore was a son of Rereahu and it is through intermarriages of the descendents with Ngāti Whakatere."<sup>199</sup>

Hauauru also recalled several conflicts and peace-making occasions. Hauauru, in citing these conflicts, relegated Te Heuheu and Tuwharetoa to a lesser role if any in an attempt to assert that Te Heuheu had negligible authority in Raukawa Maniapoto affairs: "He never came over to this District to settle any quarrels or disputes amongst the people"<sup>200</sup> Te Paehua recalled one conflict which he claimed separated out Whakatere and Tuwharetoa: "Ngāti Tuwharetoa killed Pango, he was one of Kihi's younger brothers, he was killed at Te Whiti within the block, he was killed at Paparata which is part of Te Whiti. Ngāti Matakore took revenge for his death, so also did Ngāti Karewa and Ngāti Parekawa... From that time dates the separation of Te Heuheu and Ngāti Tuwharetoa and Ngāti Whakatere."<sup>201</sup>

Hauauru maintained that during his time within the Rohe Pōtae, Te Heuheu "had no mana over the land"<sup>202</sup> but was merely an "ordinary person" who resided under his patronage. Hauauru, asserted his own mana in the district claiming that "everybody who came from the Eastwards use to come and call on me because I am a person of importance."<sup>203</sup>

Tureiti attempted to demonstrate his mana by recounting that he lifted a tapu.<sup>204</sup> Both Te Paehua and Hauauru rejected this claim of Tureiti's. Te Paehua argued that it would not be according to Māori custom for a younger relative to take off the tapu from what belonged to older people.<sup>205</sup> Hauauru maintained that Tureiti was not an "ariki" of his and that only he had the mana to remove that tapu and had done so.<sup>206</sup>

Both sides presented such competing arguments to substantiate their position as to the make-up of the Raukawa list of owners for the Rohe Pōtae Block.

The Making of Lists

The making up of lists of names was a requirement imposed on the Court by the 1873 Native Land Act to ensure all rightful holders to land were recognised.<sup>207</sup> The issue of the making of the Raukawa list following the Rohe Pōtae hearing was the subject of much comment during the hearing.

Tureiti recalled in some detail the debate, both in and outside the Court, asserting that the objections were merely “out of spite against Te Heuheu because of Tauponuiatia.” Tureiti was adamant though that “he returned ... home at Taupo, being aware that our names having been passed could not now be struck out.”<sup>208</sup> He was unaware that the lists had been left open.

Rewi claimed that he told Tureiti to put their names in under Paretekawa, no one else, and he would “father them” or admit them under his responsibility.<sup>209</sup>

William Henry Grace, who had been active along with his brother in pushing through the Tauponuiatia Block, admitted he had advised Tureiti on the making of lists for Tuwharetoa and Raukawa and acted at times as scribe. During cross-examination, Grace was asked why the surname Te Heuheu had been left out and why the names were spread out rather than grouped together.<sup>210</sup> The implication from the Rohe Pōtae owners was that Te Heuheu’s children’s names had ‘covertly’ made it onto the list.

Indeed, Hauauru maintained that Raukawa and Matakore were not aware that the names of Te Heuheu’s children had been in the list, because the surname Te Heuheu was not appended. Hauauru was adamant that he had objected to the inclusion of Te Heuheu’s children and that the Court had struck them out. He complained of the behind the scenes efforts of persons such as Grace: “I believe the Court struck them out, but it seems to me that you and your Pakehas reinstated them, I say this because you are so persistent in this matter.”<sup>211</sup>

Te Paehua noted that he was not present at the time Te Heuheu’s children were inserted into the list and stated that they would not have made it in if he was present.<sup>212</sup>

<sup>207</sup> The Native Land Act 1865 required that blocks should have no more than 10 owners. Since they were named as absolute owners, not trustees, the persons in the title could sell their interests severally, which many did to enthusiastic Land Purchase Officers. The ‘10-owner system’ thus effectively deprived many hundreds of other right-holders of their land. See references in n 1.

Concluding Remarks - The Judgment

The Court was quick to reach a decision after the Te Heuheu side failed to convince it to have the case held over so they might rebut the evidence of the Rohe Pōtae owners. The Court found Taupopoki had “utterly failed” to prove Te Heuheu’s case.<sup>213</sup> But it suggested Te Heuheu take up Rewi’s Paretekawa offer if the tribe was agreeable.

The case was characteristically full of contradictions but also significant historical evidence. Without wanting to make a judgement as to whose recollection of events was incorrect, we can surmise that the decision by the Court was a pragmatic approach. Given that this was one of the early cases for the Native Land Court in the area, the Court would not have wanted to upset Maniapoto and Raukawa claimants. The opening up of the King Country to the Court was the subject of long and difficult negotiations. There remained those who were still opposed to its operation, while others were proceeding with caution. The Court was aware of the need to tread carefully. The Court in this case was also able to call on Rewi’s Paretekawa proposal as an offering for Te Heuheu.

The animosity between the parties over the Taupunuiatia Block only fuelled an emphasis on distinct identities and communities. In another context, we may have witnessed evidence that underscored their affiliations. There were no clear-cut boundaries between hapū/iwi but rather blurred associations and interaction that shifted according to prevailing circumstances. The Native Land Court philosophy of individualising title with claimants and counter-claimants promoted contestation around demarcated and rigid boundaries of mana tangata and mana whenua.

The making of lists gave rise to questions of identity politics, hapū/iwi citizenry and who was in and who was out? This case illustrated how their composition was susceptible to wider tribal politics and the dynamics of personalities involved. We may compare it with present day concerns with hapū/iwi registration and beneficiary rolls!

Appendix 5: List of Ngāti Maniapoto Individuals on the Māori Voters Roll 1908

The following are a list of voters who identified themselves as Ngāti Maniapoto on the Northern, Eastern and Western Māori Rolls in 1908. The 1908 roll of Southern Māori voters has not been found. The Roll contains the full name, tribe, hapū, address and sex.

MĀORI were entitled to vote by declaration and were not required to enrol until 1956 which is why the roll is a list of those who voted rather than those who registered as electors. Those entitled to vote on the Māori Roll in 1908 were required to be over the age of 21 years and have half or more Māori blood. Māori with exactly half Māori blood were entitled to vote on either the Māori or European rolls.

As is to be expected, the majority of the Ngāti Maniapoto voters in 1908 are on the Western Māori Roll. This electoral district takes in the tribal region of Ngāti Maniapoto. In 1908 most Māori were domiciled within their traditional tribal domain. As a result of the urbanisation of Māori following World War II, most Ngāti Maniapoto today can be found living outside of the tribal area.

This compilation will have considerable historical interest for students of Maniapoto whakapapa as well as those exploring iwi and hapū identities and their general locale as at the turn of the 20th Century.

We also note that those who enrolled in the four Māori electorates in 1919 were listed in the NZ Māori Electoral rolls 1919. No further rolls were produced until 1949 from which date they were published under the same criteria as General Rolls. The 1919 and 1949 rolls also contain the full name, tribe, hapū, address and sex. An analysis of iwi and hapū was completed by the former Department of Māori Affairs for the 1949 roll. We append the results for Ngāti Maniapoto. While hapū affiliations ceased with the 1949 roll, tribal affiliations were included until 1969

We have listed the names and associated information as they have been recorded. In most cases the forename is first, rather than the surname.
